HUNGARY BETWEEN WILSON AND LENIN

The Hungarian Revolution of 1918-1919 and the Big Three

PETER PASTOR

This is the first book-length study which deals exclusively with the Hungarian Revolution of October 1918 – March 1919 and the power politics which caused its demise. Based upon recently opened archival materials, this penetrating study clearly illustrates how the fate of the revolution was linked to Allied intentions toward Russia and Communism. $13.00

THE RADICAL LEFT IN THE HUNGARIAN REVOLUTION OF 1848

LASZLO DEME

This study examines how a group of radical young intellectuals led by Sándor Petöfi and Mór Jókai brought about their revolution. It analyzes the support they received from different social classes; their ideology, newspapers, and revolutionary methods; and their participation in the exercise of power in the spring of 1848. $12.00

POLISH POLITICS AND NATIONAL REFORM, 1775-1788

DANIEL STONE

The national reform movement is examined in this study within the context of Polish politics in the crucial years 1775-1788 on the basis of original archival sources—Polish, French, and British—and of works by Polish reformers and political figures of the eighteenth century. $10.50

MODERN HUNGARIAN HISTORIOGRAPHY

STEVEN BELA VARDY

This study presents a comprehensive view of the development of Hungarian historical sciences from the eleventh to the middle of the twelfth century. It refutes the common view of Hungarian historiography as "naive," rating it instead as probably the most sophisticated in Eastern Europe. $12.50

THE CRISES OF FRANCE'S EAST CENTRAL EUROPEAN DIPLOMACY, 1933-1938

ANTHONY TIHAMÉR KOMJÁTHY

The goal of this study is to determine and explain the reasons for the diplomatic decisions of the small East Central European states in the crucial prewar years of 1933-1938. It concludes that the rise of Nazi Germany was made possible by a complete misunderstanding on the part of French and East European governments of the aims and realistic interests of both their enemies and their allies. $14.50

THE PARISH REPUBLIC

Hlinka's Slovak People's Party, 1939-1945

Regional Variations in the Economic Development of Germany During the Nineteenth Century

NEW FROM WESLEYAN

by Frank B. Tipton, Jr.

Although there is a long and a well developed tradition of regional studies in German economic history, few previous works have attempted to place regional development in a synthetic, comparative framework. This carefully and copiously documented study does just this and, moreover, fully considers the historical context and the political ramifications.
