LAFAYETTE COLLEGE

Lafayette College is a selective, private, liberal arts college of 2,400 undergraduates. Our 110-acre campus is located one and a half hours from both New York City and Philadelphia. Degree programs are offered in the liberal arts, sciences and engineering.

Associate Professor or Professor of Africana Studies; Africana Studies Program Chair

Lafayette College seeks an Associate Professor or Professor with significant teaching, research, and administrative experience in Africana Studies to teach in and direct an evolving interdisciplinary Africana Studies program. This is an anticipated dedicated position in Africana Studies, beginning in the fall of 2012. A joint appointment, shared between the Africana Studies Program and another department or program, is also a possibility for this position. Salary is competitive.

Field of academic specialization is open (applications from candidates with strengths in the areas of African-American history, gender studies, and/or critical race theory are especially encouraged). Candidates should have a strong commitment to undergraduate education and the liberal arts, as well as a willingness to develop and contribute to an evolving and integrative Africana Studies curriculum. Along with pedagogical excellence and a strong scholarly record, the successful candidate will ideally be able to demonstrate a record of administrative leadership and collaborative interdisciplinary program building.

Africana Studies at Lafayette is an interdisciplinary program devoted to the study of the histories, political and cultural movements, institutions, economies, and identities of Africans and the African diaspora across the globe. One of the college's longest-running interdisciplinary programs, Africana Studies currently supports a major and a minor, and offers a course of study that combines core Africana Studies courses with coursework in other departments and programs in the college. Program website: <http://africana.lafayette.edu/>

All application materials (letter of application, curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching philosophy that includes interest and/or experience in teaching a diverse student body, and three letters of recommendation) should be submitted electronically to AFSSearch@lafayette.edu.

Review of applications will begin immediately. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. The search committee co-chairs welcome questions and correspondence: Mary Armstrong armstrom@lafayette.edu (Associate Professor and Program Chair, Women's and Gender Studies) and/or Curlee Holton holtonc@lafayette.edu (Roth Professor of Art and Department Head, Art Department).

Lafayette College is committed to creating a diverse community: one that is inclusive and responsive, and is supportive of each and all of its faculty, students, and staff. All members of the College community share a responsibility for creating, maintaining, and developing a learning environment in which difference is valued, equity is sought, and inclusiveness is practiced.

Lafayette College is an equal opportunity employer and encourages applications from women and minorities.

JOURNALS OF
THE AFRICAN STUDIES ASSOCIATION
AVAILABLE IN JSTOR

Since 2002, the African Studies Association has worked with JSTOR, an online digital archive, to provide access to complete back runs of ASA journals. Users may search, browse, view, and print full-text PDF versions of articles in three ASA journals, from their first year published through all but the current and three previous volumes:

African Issues (1971)
African Studies Review (1958)
History in Africa (1974)

These journals are available as part of JSTOR's Arts & Sciences II and the Complement Collections. Users at institutions that participate in any of these collections can access the publications directly at www.jstor.org.

Individual articles from the back issues of ASA's publications are also available for purchase at $12.00 per article through JSTOR's Publisher Sales Service, a collaborative initiative to facilitate access to important scholarly literature for independent scholars. For more information on this program, please visit http://www.jstor.org/about/pss_title_list.html.

JSTOR is proud to collaborate with the African Studies Association to preserve and make widely available the historic literature of our field.

JSTOR is a not-for-profit organization dedicated to helping the scholarly community discover, use, and build upon a wide range of intellectual content in a trusted digital archive. Its overarching aims are to preserve a record of scholarship for posterity and to advance research and teaching in cost-effective ways. JSTOR collaborates with organizations that can help achieve its objectives and maximize the benefits for the scholarly community

YOUTH IN THE INTERNET CAFÉS OF URBAN GHANA

Jenna Burrell

"In this fascinating ethnography of life in internet cafes in Ghana, Jena Burrell shows how a blend of scammers, religion, and a grey market produce a new form of digital marginality. Exploring the 'material turn' in science and technology studies, this book makes an important contribution to media studies, development studies, and anthropology."

AFRICANS AND THE GLOBAL

Gabrielle Hecht

"Gabrielle Hecht's Being Nuclear is a monumental new study of the geopolitics of uranium. It profoundly shifts how we think about things marked "nuclear"—underscoring the complex historical and technopolitical work embedded in any use of the term. Beautifully written and meticulously researched—a major contribution."

"The depth of analysis of on-the-ground practices of labor coercion in Slavery by Any Other Name is a major contribution, and the picture one gets of the positions of Portuguese administrators and African chiefs, caught in the middle of an iniquitous system, is illuminating."
