The Development of the Modern State

A Sociological Introduction

Gianfranco Poggi. This is a compact analytic survey of the history of the modern state, emphasizing the evolution of its distinctive institutional features. On the basis of a large body of historical juridical, and sociological literature, much of it not available in English, the author analyzes the feudal system of rule, the late-medieval Ständestaat, the absolutist state, and the constitutional state of the nineteenth-century. A final chapter discusses major institutional trends in contemporary Western states, notably the decreasing political significance of the public sphere and the increasing role of private, semiprivate, and public bureaucracies. $10.95

The Horse of Pride

Life in a Breton Village

Pierre-Jakez Hélias
translated and abridged by
June Guicharnaud

Foreword by Laurence Wylie

A translation of a widely-acclaimed French bestseller, recreating in marvelous detail life in a Breton village. Hélias's portrayal of this village and its people—their personalities, their day-to-day living, their customs and legends, and their overwhelming sense of pride despite extreme poverty—is an unforgettable tribute to human dignity and survival. Illus. $15.00

Mind in the Heart of Darkness

Value and Self-Identity among the Tswana of Southern Africa
Hoyt Alverson

Living both in South Africa and in Botswana, the people studied here have experienced different degrees and kinds of exposure to colonialism. This path-breaking contribution to the literature on colonized peoples uses the language forms and oral literature of the Tswana themselves as data in determining how their complex relationship with colonial political economy affects personality, concept of self, and world-view. Illus. $16.00

Life in the English Country House

A Social and Architectural History

Mark Girouard

A beautifully illustrated history of the English country house from the Middle Ages to the 20th century. What emerges is a rare and revealing glimpse of the English upper classes—their public and personal lives, their servants, and their homes. 32 pages of color illus. + 225 black-and-white illus. $19.95 $25.00 after Dec. 31

Anatomy of a Power Elite

The Provincial Governors of Early Modern France

Robert R. Harding

Between 1515 and 1650 the structure of governmental administration in France gradually changed from a predominantly patrimonial system to a modern territorial bureaucracy. In this subtle and precise study, Harding examines the social and political processes underlying this transformation as it affected an important traditional institution, the provincial governorships. $20.00

Southeast Asian Transitions

Approaches through Social History

edited by Ruth T. McVey with the assistance of Adrienne Suddard

In six major essays written to honor the late Harry J. Benda, an international group of scholars focuses on a particular concern of Benda's—the impact of advanced colonialism on Southeast Asian societies and the attempt of the Southeast Asians to develop ideological and institutional responses. The authors have approached the subject from the angle of local history, showing through the study of significant small-scale events how people far from the centers of political power reacted to the pressures for change. $17.50

PAST AND PRESENT

a journal of historical studies

Past and Present appears in February, May, August and November. It aims to publish a wide variety of scholarly and original historical articles primarily concerned with social, economic and cultural changes, and their causes and consequences.

Past and Present has a very well-established reputation. The French journal Annales has referred to it as "la plus grande revue d'histoire du monde anglophone." A review in the Times Higher Educational Supplement stated that "No historical periodical has done more than Past and Present to influence the study and teaching of history in British universities. . . . It has proved extremely fertile in new interpretations, ideas and controversies. . . . What makes Past and Present so invigorating is that it encourages historians to extend their horizons and ask new questions."

Recent important articles have included the following:

- Robert Brenner, "Agrarian Class Structure and Economic Development in Pre-Industrial Europe" (no. 70, Feb. 1976)
- Richard J. Evans, "Prostitution, State and Society in Imperial Germany" (no. 70, Feb. 1976)

Comparative Studies in Society and History is a forum for presentation and discussion of new research into problems of change and stability that recur in human societies through time or in the contemporary world. It sets up a working alliance between specialists in all branches of the social sciences and humanities. Debate and review articles bring the general reader in touch with current findings and issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

Contributions may be descriptive, analytical or theoretical. Any article not in itself comparative may be accepted if it lends itself to comment that will place it in comparative perspective. Correspondence with the editors prior to the submission of articles will help to enable them to obtain such comment or a companion study. Emphasis in comparative studies may be either on similarities or, if these are significant enough and call for some recasting of generalisations, on differences. All contributions and editorial correspondence should be sent to the Editors, Comparative Studies in Society and History, Department of History, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor Michigan 48109.

Two copies of each contribution, preferably accompanied by a stamped, addressed envelope, should be submitted. Both text and footnotes should be clearly typed with double spacing and wide margins; footnotes should appear on separate pages at the end of the article. Illustrations may be included by arrangement with the editors.

Contributors will receive 50 offprints. Any additional offprints must be ordered on receipt of the first proof.

ISI Tear Service, 325 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19106, U.S.A. is authorized to supply copies of separate articles for private use only.

Claims for missing issues will be considered only if made immediately upon receipt of the subsequent issue.
