Call for Papers, ESHET 2004: The Eighth Annual Conference of the European Society for the History of Economic Thought (ESHET) will be held on February 26–29, 2004, at the Università Ca' Foscari, Venezia, and Treviso, Italy. The theme of the Conference is “Money and Markets,” but proposals for papers or sessions on all aspects of the history of economic thought are welcome. Submit an abstract of no more than 200 words for a paper or no more than 400 words for a session before September 15, 2003. Ph.D. students are invited to present a paper to a special seminar held on the day prior to the Conference. Applications with supporting letters by their supervisors and a proposal should be sent by September 15, 2003. A few grants to cover accommodation costs will be made available. Proposals may be submitted by e-mail to eshet2004@unive.it, or by post to ESHET 2004, Università Cà Foscari, Sede di Treviso, Riviera S.ta Margherita, 78 31100 Treviso (Italia) or by fax to: ESHET 2004 at 0039–0422–513510. Information about the Conference will be posted on the Conference website: <http://www.unive.it/eshet2004>.

Call for Papers: The American Journal of Economics and Sociology (AJES) is looking for research papers on the political economy of natural resource economics with a special emphasis on what we know about these processes in light of public policy and geopolitical change. A selection will be invited for inclusion in a January 2005 gala issue of the Journal. The AJES is a 62-year-old refereed journal that sets no ideological standards for its collaborators or contributors and is committed to constructive synthesis in the social sciences. A hardcover version of the volume is also planned. Authors interested in participating should submit a 600-word abstract to the journal editor: Professor Laurence S. Moss, Economics Department, Babson College, Babson Park, MA 02457, USA. or LMOS@AOL.COM. The deadline for submissions of the abstracts is November 30, 2003. The proposed final version of the paper will be due on February 1, 2004.

HES Manager of Electronic Information: The History of Economics Society is pleased to announce that Humberto Barreto (Wabash College) has assumed responsibility as Manager of Electronic Information for the Society. Bert has served on the editorial team of the HES List since the team's beginning in 1997, editing the Abstracts in the History of Economics List, which is distributed to all HES List subscribers. The Manager of Electronic Information serves on the editorial team of the HES List, manages both the Society's website (eh.net/HE/HisEcSoc) and the Eh.Net History of Economics site (eh.net/HE), and oversees other digital projects that the Society wishes to undertake. Bert takes over responsibilities as Manager of Electronic Information from Ross Emmett, who served the Society as Manager officially since 1997 (and unofficially for a couple of years before that). Ross oversaw the startup and expansion of the HES List, built a strong relationship between the History of Economics Society and Eh.Net, and designed both the Society's web site and the Eh.Net History of Economics site. The History of Economics Society extends its heartfelt thanks to Ross for his efforts and accomplishments as the first Manager of Electronic Information.

Call for Papers, HES Sessions at 2005 ASSA Meetings: The History of Economics Society will sponsor four sessions at the Allied Social Sciences Association (ASSA) meetings, January 7–9, 2005 (Saturday, Sunday, Monday), in Philadelphia, PA. Please submit session proposals, suggestions for organizing sessions and abstracts for papers (approx. 200 words) no later than April 14, 2004. Submissions for whole sessions will be given preferential consideration. Proposals relating to any aspect of the history of economics or subjects of related interest to the community of historians of economics should be sent to the HES Vice President, Sandra J. Peart, at speart@bw.edu, or Department of Economics, Baldwin-Wallace College, 275 Eastland Rd., Berea OH 44017 (e-mail is strongly preferred).

Call for Papers, ECHE 2004: The Ninth Annual European Conference on the History of Economics will be held at the University of Reims Champagne Ardenne, March 25–27, 2004. The theme of the conference will be "The Political Element in Economic Inquiry." Proposals should contain roughly 1000 words and indicate the originality of the paper and how it contributes to the theme of the conference. Proposals from doctoral students are welcome. The deadline for the submission of paper proposals is September 30, 2003. Proposals will be evaluated by mid-October 2003, and completed papers will be due in early March 2004. All proposals and requests for information should be sent to: Alain Marciano, University of Reims Champagne Ardenne, Faculty of Sciences Economiques et de Gestion, 57b rue Pierre Taittinger, F-51096 Reims Cedex FRANCE (Tel: (+) 00 33 (0)3 26 91 38 01; Fax: (+) 00 33 (0)3 26 91 38 69; E-mail: a.marciano@wanadoo.fr).

Call for Papers, Joint HESIEEA Session: As part of our ongoing efforts to celebrate our work in the History of Economic Thought, and to take advantage of wide interest in our field among colleagues at the Eastern Economic Association, the HES Executive is very pleased to announce that it will sponsor an HES session at the 2004 EEA meeting. For this first jointly sponsored effort, we are looking for high quality, linked papers in a session that will appeal to non-specialists and specialists alike. The EEA meeting will be held at the Hyatt Regency, Washington DC, February 20–22, 2004. In order to meet the EEA submission deadline, we require submissions by September 20, 2003. Please submit session proposals, by email, to Sandra Peart at speart@bw.edu.
