OXFORD BOOKS FOR STUDENTS

The Early Christian Fathers

A selection from the writings of the Fathers from St Clement of Rome to St Athanasius

Selected and translated by HENRY BETTENSON

The thought of the early Fathers, especially on the great doctrinal themes, is displayed in this volume of selections from the principal writers of the Church in the Roman Empire from immediately after the New Testament down to the age of Constantine. Mr Bettenson has translated these passages afresh with brief annotation where necessary. 'Scholarly and well-balanced', noted The Tablet of the 1956 hard-cover edition, which this replaces.

The Later Christian Fathers

A selection from the writings of the Fathers from St Cyril of Jerusalem to St Leo the Great

Edited and translated by HENRY BETTENSON

These extracts continue the story of the development of Christian doctrine begun in Mr Bettenson's The Early Christian Fathers. This period saw the consolidation of the Trinitarian faith, the explicit assertion of the divine personality of the Holy Spirit, and the search for an adequate foundation of the Christian belief that 'God was in Christ reconciling the world unto himself', a search which ended in the statement of the Council of Chalcedon in 451. This volume includes the writings of Basil the Great, Gregory of Nyssa, John Chrysostom, Jerome, Augustine Hippo, and Cyril of Alexandria. 30/-

NEW CLARENDON BIBLE

Israel Under Babylon and Persia

PETER R. ACKROYD

Covers the period of Old Testament history during which the control of Palestine was in the hands first of the Babylonians and then of the Persians, from the fall of Jerusalem in 587 B. C. to the conquests of Alexander the Great. 30/-

St John

J. C. FENTON

Written from an untraditional standpoint, this book presents the evangelist as a creative writer rather than a chronicler. 30/-

Christian Faith and Other Faiths

The Christian Dialogue with other Religions

STEPHEN NEILL, *Professor of Philosophy and Religion,
University College of Nairobi*

In this assessment of non-Christian religions from a Christian standpoint, Bishop Neill discusses the faith of contemporary primitive people as well as the main established religions, and modern forms of secularism, including a discussion of Existentialism. Christendom is then reconsidered in its relation to other faiths. The 1961 hard-cover edition has been revised throughout and new material added for this second edition in Oxford Paperbacks. 15/-

Law, Morality, and Religion in a Secular Society

BASIL MITCHELL, Nolloth Professor of the Philosophy of the Christian Religion, University of Oxford

Should the law be concerned only with actions which harm individuals or may it be used to protect the morality and essential institutions of a society? Professor Mitchell traces the differing views on this question expressed by Lord Devlin, Professor H. L. A. Hart, and others, to their origin in fundamental differences about the scope and nature of morality. This Oxford Paperbacks edition replaces the 1967 hard-cover edition. 7/-

A Short History of the Western Liturgy

THEODOR KLAUSER

Translated by JOHN HALLIBURTON

Dr Klauser traces the history of worship in the Western Church from the earliest known Roman liturgy to the Second Vatican Council, pointing out the main lines of development and the controlling ideas of different periods. Dr Halliburton's translation is made from the fifth German edition. 1 plate 40/-

The Indian Theogony

A Comparative Study of Indian Mythology from the Vedas to the Puranas

SUKUMARI BHATTACHARJI

An account of the development of the great triad of Indian mythology: Brahma the Creator, Visnu the Preserver and Siva the Destroyer. Dr Bhattacharji shows how the gods changed with the passing of time and how some disappeared in the process. She makes extensive comparisons with the myths of many other peoples, particularly Indo-European. £7 net

Problems of Suffering in the Religions of the World

JOHN BOWKER

The place accorded to suffering in the main world religions provides an important key to an understanding of the religions themselves and their interpretations of the purpose of human existence. Mr Bowker studies the way in which the problem is treated by nine religions. 70s. net

Bureaucracy and Church Reform

The Organizational Response of the Church of England to Social Change 1800-1965

KENNETH A. THOMPSON

This book's theme is the process by which the Church of England has adapted its organization in response to social changes. The approach is sociological: religion is examined primarily as an institutional phenomenon. Church reform movements are related to broader changes in the structure of English society, and there is an account of the origins and growth of the Church Assembly. 55/-

The Ancient Egyptian Pyramid Texts

Translated into English by R. O. FAULKNER

This translation is based on the hieroglyphic texts published in 1910 by K. Sethe in Die altägyptischen Pyramidentexte, but gaps have been filled and new utterances added. The texts underlying the additional sections on the pyramids of Pepi II, Neit, and Aba are reproduced in the Supplement. Translation 65/- Supplement of Texts 36/-

The Eighteenth Century Pulpit

A Study of the Sermons of Butler, Berkeley, Secker, Sterne, Whitefield, and Wesley

JAMES DOWNEY

This book attempts to illuminate some of the salient features—literary, homiletic, oratorical, and theological—of eighteenth-century preaching by examining the sermons of six men who each have a special claim to a place in the history of English pulpit oratory, and who together represent the range, vitality, and importance of eighteenth-century preaching. 6 plates 50/-

Bede's Ecclesiastical History of the English People

BERTRAM COLGRAVE and R. A. B. MYNORS

Bede's Ecclesiastical History, completed in 731, still ranks among the most popular of history books. This edition makes use for the first time of the mid-eighth-century manuscript now in Leningrad, provides a survey of the extant manuscripts, and a new translation. £6/6/- Oxford Medieval Texts

The Feast of Fools

A Theological Essay on Festivity and Fantasy

HARVEY COX

Harvey Cox examines both the loss and re-emergence of festivity and fantasy in Western civilization. He evaluates both from a theological perspective, defining festivity as the capacity for genuine revelry and joyous celebration, and fantasy as the faculty for envisioning radically alternate life situations. Both, he asserts, are absolutely vital to contemporary human life and faith. 56/- Harvard University Press

Light from the Ancient Past

The Archaeological Background of Judaism and Christianity

JACK FINEGAN

The account which can now be given of the rise of civilization in the Middle East, of the development of art, and of the formulation of ethical, philosophical, and religious ideas is of fascinating interest in itself, and also of great significance for an understanding of Judaism and Christianity. Volume I 30/- Volume II 35/- Princeton University Press

Colleges in Controversy

The Jesuit Schools in France from Revival to Suppression 1815-1880

JOHN W. PADBERG, S.J.

This is the first full-length study of the nineteenth-century Jesuit colleges from their revival in 1815 to their suppression in 1880. Drawing on archival material not previously used, the author studies his subject against the background of anti-clericalism, revolution, the Second Empire, and the Third Republic. 85/- Harvard University Press

The Buddhist Revival in China

with a section of photographs by HENRI CARTIER-BRESSON

HOLMES WELCH

Of all the world's major religions, Chinese Buddhism has probably experienced the most traumatic modernization. This is the first detailed account of the careers of recent Buddhist leaders and of the diverse organizations they started. The main features of the Buddhist revival are put into the perspective of the larger framework of politics. Endpaper maps 61 half-tone plates £5/15/- Harvard University Press

Within Human Experience

The Philosophy of William Ernest Hocking

LEROY S. ROUNER

This first comprehensive study of Hocking's philosophy explores the reasons for his wide influence. Hocking's understanding of the individual's interrelationship with nature and society, and his views on philosophy, are examined, and his major works discussed in detail. 95/- Harvard University Press
