

NEW BOOKS

ST MATTHEW AND ST MARK

AUSTIN FARRER, D.D.

Dr Farrer continues his elucidation of symbolism and pattern in the writings of the Evangelists, demonstrating that there were literary works in a literary tradition, rather than compilations of oral matter. 25s. net

HISTORY OF NEW TESTAMENT TIMES

WITH AN INTRODUCTION TO THE APOCRYPHA

ROBERT H. PFEIFFER

The first adequate study for many years of the world in which Christianity arose, with an encyclopaedic investigation into the contents and religious teaching of the Apocrypha. The author is Professor of Hebrew at Harvard. 25s. net

CHAPTERS IN A LIFE OF PAUL

JOHN KNOX, D.D.

Based on the personal passages in the Pauline Letters, this is an original and revealing reconsideration of the outline of the Apostle's career. From it emerges a significant new Pauline chronology. 12s. 6d. net

RECENTLY PUBLISHED

CONFIRMATION

ITS PLACE IN THE BAPTISMAL MYSTERY

L. S. THORNTON, C.R., D.D.

The same principles of biblical study as in the author's great work The Form of the Servant are here applied to "a contribution of the first importance to the current debate about the Biblical and patristic significance of confirmation." THE TIMES. 15s. net

THE ROOT OF THE VINE

ESSAYS IN BIBLICAL THEOLOGY

ANTON FRIDRICHSEN, et al.

An introduction to the important work in Biblical exegesis by Professor Fridrichsen and his staff at Uppsala. "It throws light on some of the cardinal themes of Biblical theologians. Each of the essays emphasises the unity of the Bible, showing how the theology of the Old Testament is fulfilled in the New." THE BISHOP OF DURHAM. 16s. net

THE HISTORIC EPISCOPATE

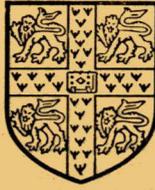

IN THE FULLNESS OF THE CHURCH

Edited by KENNETH CAREY

Seven co-ordinated essays by present and recent members of Westcott House, Cambridge. "It would seem that the rigid position as regards episcopacy has received some mortal blows. This volume, which is both important and challenging, should be carefully read and pondered." PROF. NORMAN SYKES. 8s. 6d. net

CAMBRIDGE BOOKS

A Christian Palestinian Syriac Horologion

EDITED BY MATTHEW BLACK

The first of a new series of Texts and Studies under the general editorship of C. H. Dodd. Professor Black reproduces the text of a manuscript Book of Hours, now in the Berlin State Library, which may have come from the Convent of St Catharine on Mount Sinai, and which throws new light on the Syriac versions of the Scriptures and on the doctrinal history of the Malkite Church. 70s. net

The Primitive Christian Calendar

P. CARRINGTON

A discussion of the thesis that Mark consists of a series of lections for use in the early Christian Church on successive Sundays, and a longer continuous lection used on the commemoration of the Passion. 30s. net

Philo's Bible

PETER KATZ

'In this detailed and masterly treatment, Dr Katz elaborates his theory that the Biblical passages and quotations in the Philonic writings which do not conform to the Septuagint are generally taken from a Pentateuch Septuagint now lost, and have no real relation to Philo, because they were later substitutions, particularly in the Lemmata. . . . The present volume demands most careful scrutiny.' OLD TESTAMENT STUDIES 35s. net
