

BOOKS FOR CHRISTMAS

Recollections and Reflections

BY

RICHARD STRAUSS

Price 8/6 net

A volume that is of the first importance in Strauss study. I know of no recent book on and around music that contains so much that should be studied closely by opera conductors, performers, producers and listeners.—ERNEST NEWMAN (The Sunday Times).

The Message of Igor Strawinsky

BY

THEODORE STRAWINSKY

Price 8/6 net

A true account of his æsthetic creed—(The Times).

Concerning Music

BY

WILHELM FURTWÄNGLER

Price 8/6 net

For my own part I have found Furtwängler as engrossing and provocative to read as I have always found him baton in hand.—(The Manchester Guardian).

Benjamin Britten

BY

ERIC WALTER WHITE

Price 12/6 net

This second edition is welcome because, with more material to be included, the same practical approach, without unnecessary divergences, is adopted. There are more operas to talk about, too, and the Opera section is naturally greatly enlarged, with long and interesting commentaries on "Billy Budd" and "Gloriana" . . . This is more than a reprint—the author has brought his material up to date and has done some more thinking, just as sound as before about what he had already written. More learned treatises have been written about Benjamin Britten's music, but none with more insight.—(Music and Musicians).
