

CONTENTS

NUMBER 2

The last bath of Agamemnon	RICHARD SEAFORD	247
Blood or fate: a note on Choephoroi 927	DEBORAH H. ROBERTS	255
Eumenides in Greek tragedy	A. L. BROWN	260
The vocabulary of Prometheus Bound	MARK GRIFFITH	282
Io and the dark stranger (Sophocles, Inachus F 269a)	STEPHANIE WEST	292
The Helen scene in Euripides' Troades	MICHAEL LLOYD	303
Aristophanes and the demon poverty	A. H. SOMMERSTEIN	314
Athenian naval power in the fourth century	G. L. CAWKWELL	334
Pausanias and Plutarch's Epaminondas	C. J. TUPLIN	346
Two geometrical examples from Aristotle's Metaphysics	HENRY MENDELL	359
Ptolemy and his rivals in his history of Alexander	JOSEPH ROISMAN	373
The use of historical demography in ancient history	DONALD ENGELS	386
Notes on Propertius books I and II	S. J. HEYWORTH	394
The sacrifice of Iphigeneia: an example of 'distribution' of a Lucretian theme in Virgil	P. R. HARDIE	406
The epistolary mode and the first of Ovid's Heroides	DUNCAN F. KENNEDY	413
The role of the senate in the Augustan regime	P. A. BRUNT	423
Notes on Velleius	D. R. SHACKLETON BAILEY	445
Notes on some passages of Lucan	A. HUDSON-WILLIAMS	452
The annotations of M. Valerius Probus	H. D. JOCELYN	464
The sea route to India: Periplus Maris Erythraei 57	LIONEL CASSON	473
SHORTER NOTES
Lichas' lying tale; Sophocles, Trachiniai 260ff.	M. DAVIES	480
Thucydides and the plague: a further footnote	A. J. HOLLADAY & J. C. F. POOLE	483
A fragment of Anaxagoras in Thucydides?	WILLIAM M. CALDER III	485
Aristotle, EN 1144a27-8	C. C. W. TAYLOR	486
A note on Catullus 12. 1-3	F. JONES	486
Evander, Jupiter and Arcadia	S. J. HARRISON	487
Ovid, Metamorphoses 9. 466	PETER E. KNOX	489
Anthologia Palatina , 9. 686	CYRIL MANGO	489
Liddell & Scott, Greek-English Lexicon	EDITORIAL ANNOUNCEMENT	491

For top quality
FILMSTRIP
and
SLIDE SETS
on
GREECE

• • •

Details from

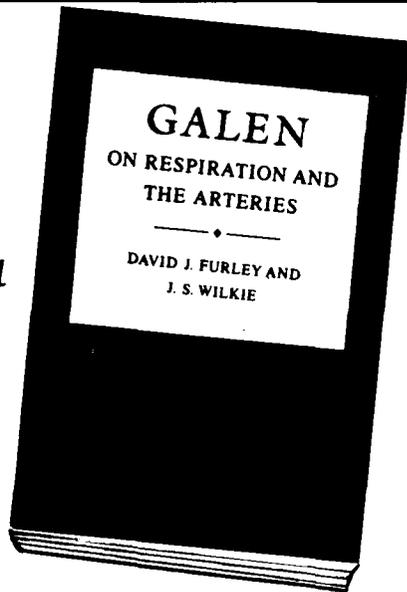

W. B. Ball,
The Old Vicarage,
Reades Lane,
Dane in Shaw,
Congleton,
Cheshire CW12 3LL

Now Available

Galen

On Respiration and the Arteries
*David J. Furley and
J.S. Wilkie*

An edition with English
translation and commentary of *De usu respirationis, An in arteriis natura sanguis
contineatur, De usu pulsuum,*
and De causis respirationis
$39.00 (U.S.)

Order from your local bookseller or from

Princeton

University Press 15A Epsom Road, Guildford, Surrey GU1 3JT

Oxford Books for Students

New in paperback

The Oxford Companion to Classical Literature

Compiled by Sir Paul Harvey

This unique guide to Greek and Roman literature and its background covers antiquity in all its aspects: mythology, writers and works, literary forms, history, politics, art, philosophy, religion, economic and social conditions, and much more besides.

Paperback £4.95, illustrated, Oxford Paperbacks

Oxford Readings in Greek Tragedy

Edited by Erich Segal

In this collection of twenty-nine essays on plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides, all Greek has been translated, but the original notes have been retained. Many of the contributions—by continental, British and American scholars—are not readily available, coming from foreign journals or books difficult to obtain.

Paperback £7.95

New in paperback

Ovid: Metamorphoses Book VIII

A.S. Hollis

A newly-constituted text of Metamorphoses VIII, together with the first detailed English commentary. Such a full consideration of one of the finest individual books should promote the enjoyment and understanding of Ovid's masterpieces as a whole. This new paperback edition contains addenda and additional bibliography.

Paperback £6.50, illustrated

The Nature of Roman Poetry

Gordon Williams

This book analyses the special features of Roman poetry in the period 240 BC–8 BC, and uses them as a basis for interpreting individual poems. Emphasis is given to the relationship between the poetic tradition and Roman originality. Formerly in the OPUS series, the book is now reissued with an updated bibliography and a postscript in which 'Golden' age poetry is contrasted with that of the 'Silver' age.

Paperback £5.95

Oxford University Press

Caesar Augustus

Seven Aspects

Edited by Fergus Millar and Erich Segal

Presents seven fresh and original views of Caesar Augustus, as the authors of the papers collected here consider the image which he presented of himself, how historians and poets reacted to him, the nature of his rule, and the representation of the newly-established monarch amongst his subjects in the provinces.

£18, paperback £7.95, Clarendon Press

Wealthy Corinth

A History of the City to 338 BC

J.B. Salmon

The first book to deal with Corinth over the whole period to 338 BC. In doing so it illuminates important aspects of Greek history in general, and also demonstrates how archaeological evidence can be applied to the solution of historical problems in the Greek world. 'Can be unreservedly recommended to all who teach or study seriously the history of ancient Greece.' Times Higher Education Supplement £35, illustrated, Clarendon Press

The Emperor and the Roman Army 31 BC–AD 235

J.B. Campbell

Undertakes a general survey of the political relationship between the Roman emperor and the army, a theme of paramount importance in the history of the period. Dr Campbell examines the means by which the emperors secured the loyalty and affection of their troops, and the consequences of this for the imperial role in military affairs.

£30, Clarendon Press

New in paperback

Holy Land Pilgrimage in the Late Roman Empire AD 312–460

E.D. Hunt

'As an evocation through detailed scholarship and sympathetic exposition of a most complex and fascinating period in the history of the Roman world and of the Christian Church, this book has rarely been equalled.' J.S. Richardson in JACT Bulletin

Paperback £6.95, Clarendon Press

Oxford University Press

Antigones

George Steiner

Professor Steiner considers some of the principal interpretations of the Antigone motif in Western art, literature, and thought, and investigates the metamorphic lives of artistic forms. 'Professor Steiner's synthesis is wide, his reading humiliatingly wide . . . there are rich rewards here. All serious students of literature should make the effort.' Daily Telegraph 'How can one fail to be grateful for the copious display of ideas and insights which Steiner lavishes on the reader?' The Listener
£15, illustrated

Now available in paperback

Early Christian Thought and the Classical Tradition

Studies in Justin, Clement, and Origen

Henry Chadwick

The roots of many twentieth-century questions lie in the ancient dialogue between the early Christians and the culture of the old classical world. This book takes three thinkers to represent the Christian position, and draws on the pagan critics of the Church to illustrate the case the Christians had to answer. The examination of the Christian synthesis illustrates the extent to which penetrating criticism of the classical tradition was combined with a profound acceptance of its humanism.
Paperback £5.95, Clarendon Press

New in paperback

Virgil: Aeneid Book I

With a commentary by R.G. Austin

'The virtues which the public already look for in Austin's work are everywhere in evidence: learning, good judgement, sensitiveness of appreciation, and the ability to assemble a great abundance of relevant and often hitherto unnoticed illustrative material from widely diverse areas of literature and history.' Classical Review
Paperback £6.50, Clarendon Press

Roman Papers

Volume III

Ronald Syme, edited by Anthony R. Birley

Ranging over four centuries of Roman history, these papers reflect almost every aspect of Sir Ronald's interest, not least his mastery of political prosopography and unequalled insight into Latin literature. Volume III contains 41 papers and an Index of Persons for the whole work.
£40, Clarendon Press

Oxford University Press
