Religion & Literature

(formerly the Notre Dame English Journal)

R&L is the forum for an on-going discussion of the relations between two crucial human concerns, the religious impulse and the literary forms of any era, place, or language.

We publish three times a year: four scholarly articles in each issue, as well as review essays and book notices. Each year one special issue is devoted to a single theme or area:

1984: An investigation of sacred experience and word in Jewish traditions, edited by Elie Wiesel.

Forthcoming: Religious inspiration and literary expression in Islam, past and present, edited by Herbert Mason.

R&L (and its predecessor NDEJ) have published work by:

M.H. Abrams	Stanley Hauerwas
Thomas J.J. Altizer	Hugh Kenner
Robert MacAfee Brown	Sallie McFague
Wallace Fowlie	J. Hillis Miller

— and many other thinkers concerned with the intersection between language and the ineffable.

Religion and Literature is a key source for anyone interested in these expressions of the human spirit.

Milestones in Contemporary Theology

ANTHROPOLOGY IN THEOLOGICAL PERSPECTIVE

by Wolfhart Pannenberg
*Translated by Matthew J.
O'Connell*

This major new work by one of the century's foremost theologians presents a comprehensive approach to scientific anthropology and forges a dramatic link between the religious and secular intellectual communities. Richly-textured, it integrates theological thinking with the best in modern anthropology, psychology, sociology, and philosophy. Hard, $38.95

THEOLOGY FOR A NUCLEAR AGE

by Gordon D. Kaufman

A new agenda for Christian theology is put forth in this succinct and cogent statement that speaks to the most important issues of the century. Kaufman points the reader toward a new way of thinking about God, asserting that the fate of God and the fate of mankind are now joined inextricably. Profound ideas are expressed in an understandable way in this compelling book. Hard, $12.95; Paper, $8.95 (Prices tentative)
