

Cover Art: Austrian Trümmerfrau Memorial at Mölkerbastei, 1010 Vienna
Source: Monument for the Trümmerfrauen on the Mölkerbastei, 1010 Vienna © 2018
Kanisfluh, CC BY-SA 3.0 via Wikimedia Commons
Composition: Straive
Printer: The Sheridan Press
Text: Minon Pro

AUSTRIAN HISTORY YEARBOOK

VOLUME LVI • 2025

Editor's Comments

Annual Robert A. Kann Memorial Lecture

Hillel J. Kieval

Was There a Habsburg Jewish Experience?

Articles

Pavel Soukup

Crusade, Politics, and Pastoral Care in the Klosterneuburg Sermons of 1467

Žiga Oman

Law and Emotion: The Lexicon of 'Enmity' in Early Modern Inner Austria

Mathias Moosbrugger

Bottom-Up Baroque: Recontextualizing the Bregenzerwald Baroque Master Builders

Georg B. Michels

A Breathing Space for Vienna? The 1677 Ottoman Invasion of Ukraine and its Impact on Hungary and the Habsburg Empire

Matthew Rampley

Alois Musil (1868–1944), the Moravian Lawrence of Arabia: The Question of Coloniality in Central Europe

Daša Ličen

Against "Plebeian Ignorance" and for "Civilized Behavior": Habsburg Trieste's Società Zoofila as a Bourgeois Instrument

Drew P. Burks

Advertising, Piano Culture, and the Changing Middle Class in Urban Galicia, 1911–1921

Tess Megginson

"The Commission Has Refused All Public Consultation": The Inter-Allied Boundary Commission and the Delimitation of the Lower Austrian-Bohemian Border after WWI

Martin Tschiggerl, Lea von der Hude,
and Patricia Seifner

"As a former National Socialist ... I suffered most severely." How National Socialists' Atonement Work Became a Reconstruction Myth

Review Essay

J. B. Shank

Unearthing the Foundations of the German Enlightenment: the Recent Soundings of Martin Mulsow

plus 59 book reviews

Corrigenda

