

“It’s the very best journal of its kind. It is substantial, relevant, and a must for policy analysts, practitioners, and academicians.”

—Amitai Etzioni, The George Washington University

Journal of Policy Analysis and Management

Editor: David L. Weimer, University of Rochester

The JOURNAL OF POLICY ANALYSIS AND MANAGEMENT is the official journal of the Association for Public Policy Analysis and Management.

Published quarterly, the JOURNAL OF POLICY ANALYSIS AND MANAGEMENT represents a vital international forum for the publication of outstanding contemporary research and analysis in the field. As a subscriber, you’ll find incisive, original papers on every major area of domestic and international public policy, as well as articles on how technology and important analytical tools can further sharpen your policy-making skills. Reading JPAM, you’ll engage in the mutual exchange of ideas with policy analysts, academicians, government managers, and corporate officials from all over the world. And you’ll better define your own professional identity and role with the help of JPAM’s cogent articles on ethics, tactics, and the inevitable dilemmas that confront policy-makers.

Recent issues have included such in-depth research as:

- Formula Budgeting: The Economics and Analytics of Fiscal Policy Under Rules
Eric Hanushek
- The Issue of Standing in Cost-Benefit Analysis
Dale Whittington and Duncan McRae, Jr.
- Blind Spots in Policy Analysis: What Economics Doesn’t Say About Energy Use
Paul C. Stern
- Economics and Politicians
William A. Niskanen
- Regulatory Reform and OSHA Policy
John Mendeloff
- Institutional Policy Analysis: A Critical Review
William T. Gormley

Supported by such regular features as topical book reviews, listings of working papers on ongoing research, and case notes for public policy instructors, the JOURNAL OF POLICY ANALYSIS AND MANAGEMENT is your source for the most complete perspectives on advances in this rapidly moving field.

The Quest for Peace

Three Moral Traditions in Western Cultural History

James Turner Johnson

James Turner Johnson, author of distinguished works on the just war tradition, here goes beyond the examination of moral restraints on the occasion and conduct of war to a critical study of the moral thinking that has aimed at its prevention. This scrutiny of the "peace issue" in Western society covers nearly two thousand years of history and three traditions of the search for peace: the just war tradition of setting limits to war, the sectarian pacifism of withdrawal from the world and its evils, and the utopian world-perfecting pacifism that finds the cure for discord among nations in the establishment of a new, more nearly universal, and rightly constituted political order.

Churchill and Roosevelt The Complete Correspondence

Edited by Warren F. Kimball

Here is the unabridged paperback edition of the complete correspondence of Winston Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Including every written communication that passed between Churchill and Roosevelt during the five and a half years of their wartime leadership, this body of material is essential to an understanding of the politics and strategy of World War II as conducted by two of history's most charismatic leaders.

"The editor is to be congratulated on a staggering job that would doubtless have taken most people the labor of a lifetime. . . . the three vast volumes read like a skillful and compelling history of World War II—as indeed they are."

—Alistair Horne, The New York Times Book Review

Capitalism and Social Democracy

ADAM PRZEWORSKI

In his analysis of the historical choices facing socialist movements as they have developed within capitalist societies, Adam Przeworski provides novel and provocative conclusions, showing that the working class has good reasons to struggle for the improvement of capitalism.

Studies in Marxism and Social Theory

Critics of Capitalism

Victorian Criticism of 'Political Economy'

Edited by ELIZABETH JAY and RICHARD JAY

This book presents extracts from a variety of 'critics of capitalism', such as the Owenite socialist John Bray, William Morris and George Bernard Shaw, who sought to challenge the materialism of the increasingly industrialised and competitive Victorian society and offer their own assessment of the profound social changes of the time.

Patterns of Moral Complexity

CHARLES E. LARMORE

Charles Larmore aims to recover three pervasive and fundamental forms of moral complexity which moral and political philosophers have too often neglected. The book addresses some of the central issues which concern moral and political thinking today and attempts to restore to that thinking greater flexibility and a necessary sensitivity to our common experience.

The Sound of Leadership

Presidential Communication in the Modern Age

RODERICK P. HART

Based on an analysis of nearly 10,000 presidential speeches delivered between 1945 and 1982, this book is the first comprehensive examination of the ways in which presidents Truman through Reagan have used the powers of communication to advance their political goals. This communication revolution has produced, Hart argues, a new form of governance, one in which public speech has come to be taken as political action.

News That Matters

Television and American Opinion

SHANTO IYENGAR & DONALD R. KINDER

On a typical weekday evening 50 million Americans gather around their TV sets to be informed, and influenced, by the news. Because of its extraordinary reach and credibility, TV news possesses the power to mould the public's political agenda. News That Matters is the first book to identify the ways in which television programmes order priorities, shape opinions and affect the way in which many Americans take part in political life.

Notes for Contributors

1 All contributions should be sent to: The Editors, British Journal of Political Science, University of Essex, Wivenhoe Park, Colchester, Essex CO4 3SQ. They should not be sent to the Cambridge University Press.

2 Articles submitted to the Journal should in general be between 5,000 and 12,000 words (or equivalent in tables and figures) in length. An abstract not exceeding 120 words is required.

3 Notes and Comments are welcome. A Note should contain a body of original information, a new method for doing something or a new idea (speculation, argument, proof, etc.) presented in a brief and unadorned form without inessential commentary. Comments containing criticisms of articles published in the Journal and additional thoughts on them will be considered for early publication, especially if they are short – say, under 1,000 words.

4 Most issues of the Journal contain a Review Article – either a detailed discussion of a single book or a review of the state of some area of the discipline. Review Articles submitted without prior consultation will be considered for publication, but in their own interest contributors would be well advised not to prepare a Review Article specially for the Journal without first getting in touch with the Editors.

5 Contributors should note the Journal's editorial policy, which is as stated inside the front cover.

6 Authors of articles and Review Articles receive twenty-five free offprints. Additional copies may be bought if they are ordered at proof stage.

7 Submission of an article is taken to imply that it has not been previously published and is not being considered for publication elsewhere. In the interest of authors, copyright is normally assigned to the Cambridge University Press.

8 Authors should submit FOUR COPIES of their articles. Contributions must be typed and may be reproduced in any clearly legible form. The preferred size of paper is A4 ($8\frac{1}{4} \times 11\frac{1}{2}$ in), but quarto (8×10 in) or the US standard size ($8\frac{1}{2} \times 11$ in) will also be accepted. Because of postage costs, manuscripts not accepted for publication are not normally returned to the author unless their return is specifically requested.

9 The entire material of any article, including footnotes, quotations, appendices, etc., should be double spaced, with left-hand margins of at least $1\frac{1}{2}$ in. The preferred treatment of footnotes is that they should be numbered consecutively in the text and typed all together at the end, beginning on a fresh page.

10 Anyone who is preparing a manuscript for submission to the Journal is urged to follow the Journal's style sheet, which covers a number of detailed points concerning footnotes, punctuation, spelling, etc. Copies of the style sheet can be obtained from the Editor. Footnote references should always contain, in the case of books, the name of the author as it appears on the title page, the full title including any subtitle, the place of publication, the name of the publisher and the date of publication, and, in the case of articles, the name of the author, the full title, the name of the journal, the volume number, the year and the page reference (number of first and last page).

11 First proofs may be read and corrected by contributors provided that they can give the Editor an address through which they can be reached without delay and can guarantee to return the corrected proofs to the Editor, by air mail where appropriate, within ten days of receiving them. The master proof will always be sent directly to the Editor by the printer; contributors will receive duplicates.
