Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law

Volume 1 1998

Editor-in-Chief: Horst Fischer

The world's first-ever annual publication devoted to the study of the laws of armed conflict, the Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law provides a truly international forum for high-quality academic articles, commentaries and documents which have international humanitarian law as their focal point. The appearance of such a publication now is timely. The past several years have seen international humanitarian law move from the margins to the forefront of international attention. The establishment of the International Tribunals for the Former Yugoslavia and Rwanda; the proposal to create a permanent International Criminal Court; concern about preventing the proliferation of conventional weapons and those of mass destruction; and other topical developments have given international humanitarian law a contemporary resonance and increased the need for an annual review of legal developments in this field. The Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law aims to meet this need.

Drawn from experts all over the world, the Yearbook's Board of Editors strives to ensure that the Yearbook reflects global trends in the field. The international inclusiveness of the Yearbook is also guaranteed by its worldwide network of correspondents, reporting on state practice.

All aspects of international law applicable in times of internal and international armed conflict will be covered by the Yearbook of International Humanitarian Law, including interesting and significant developments taking place outside the traditional body of international humanitarian law. Considering that implementation, observation and enforcement of international humanitarian law have dimensions beyond their purely legal aspects, contributions will also cover the political science and international relations perspectives of international humanitarian law, and related developments in the fields of human rights and international law generally.

AUTHORS' GUIDE

CONTENTS OF THE NILR

The NILR invites the submission of articles on legal questions, legal developments, commentaries, analysis and comprehensive overviews in the fields of public international law, private international law and comparative law. These articles must be original and may be of any length up to a maximum of around 35 printed pages each of approximately 450 words. Shorter articles and commentaries of between 5 and 10 printed pages are also published.

In addition, the NILR also publishes book reviews and reports of Dutch judicial decisions involving questions of private international law. These have a maximum length of 5 and 15 printed pages, respectively.

The NILR is an English-language publication.

SUBMISSION OF MATERIAL

Authors are requested to send three copies of each manuscript to the Secretariat: P.O.Box 30461, 2500 GL The Hague, The Netherlands. All submitted material should be in English and should be typed using a personal computer (preferably using WordPerfect). Material may be submitted at any time of the year and, if accepted for publication, will be published at the earliest available opportunity.

FEES

Authors will not receive a fee, but will be presented with the issue of the NILR in which their contribution appears, together with 25 off-prints of their work in the case of articles and case reports and 5 off-prints in the case of book reviews. Additional off-prints may be supplied on request, upon payment of a standard fee.

COPYRIGHT

Copyright is exclusively vested in the NILR and the author(s) jointly. Acceptance of the Board of Editors' offer to publish implies, however, that authors agree to an embargo on publication elsewhere, either in English or another language, for a period of two years following the date of publication in the NILR.

The agreement of the Board of Editors will be necessary before the article can be subsequently published elsewhere.

EDITORIAL POLICY AND DISCRETION

The Board of Editors exclusively reserves the right to suggest modifications and/or additions to all materials accepted for publication, and further reserves the right at any time to reject or to withhold or postpone the publication of any material.

The decision of the Board of Editors will be final.

REVISION

All material accepted for publication may, at the discretion of the Managing Editor, be subjected to linguistic and grammatical revision. This will apply, in the main, to contributions written by authors whose mother-tongue is not English.

In all such cases the revised text will be sent to the author for his/her approval.

CORRECTION OF PROOFS AND MODIFICATIONS TO THE TEXT

Authors will receive galley proofs for correction. All accepted material will have been adapted and type-set in the NILR house-style. The NILR does not accept any significant departures from its house-style. Examples of the house-style are available upon request.

Authors may make any reasonable changes or additions to the original text upon the receipt of the galley proofs. Substantial modifications, however, may only be made in consultation with and with the consent of the Board of Editors.
