Publication Policy

Law & Social Inquiry is published quarterly for the American Bar Foundation by Wiley Periodicals, Inc., Commerce Place, 350 Main St., Malden, MA 02148-5020; Tel: 781 388 8200; Fax: 781 388 8210.

The purpose of Law & Social Inquiry is to promote research and writing dedicated to the study of law, legal institutions, legal processes and individuals' interactions with legal systems, undertaken from a socio-legal perspective. The editors invite the submission of manuscripts that make original contributions to the understanding of sociological processes. Law & Social Inquiry considers both empirical analyses and theoretical studies without restriction as to time or place. Law & Social Inquiry embraces the broad range of perspectives and methodologies current in contemporary social science and humanities disciplines.

Law & Social Inquiry is a refereed journal that practices double-blind peer review. Manuscripts deemed appropriate for the journal are evaluated by two or more referees with expertise in the relevant subject matter and methodology. Manuscripts are rendered anonymous prior to review; referees are not identified to authors.

The American Bar Foundation (ABF) is an independent, nonprofit national research institute committed to objective empirical research on law and legal institutions. The Foundation's program of sociological research is conducted by an interdisciplinary staff of Research Fellows trained in such diverse fields as law, sociology, psychology, political science, economics, history, and anthropology. The American Bar Foundation is the preeminent resource for lawyers, scholars, and policy makers seeking analyses of the theory and functioning of law, legal institutions, and the legal profession. The Foundation's work is supported by the American Bar Endowment, by The Fellows of the American Bar Foundation, and by grants for particular research projects from private foundations and government agencies. The Foundation (Director Robert L. Nelson) is located at 750 North Lake Shore Drive, 4th floor, Chicago, Illinois 60611.
