

FIELDS AND VISIONS:

The “African Personality” and Ghanaian Soccer—CORRIGENDUM

James Rosbrook-Thompson

School of Sport and Education, Brunel University

Gary Armstrong

School of Sport and Education, Brunel University

doi:10.1017/S1742058X10000299

Published by Cambridge University Press

Published December 30, 2010.

The authors of the article titled “Fields and Visions: The ‘African Personality’ and Ghanaian Soccer,” Du Bois Review, 7(2): 73–95, James Rosbrook-Thompson and Gary Armstrong, would like to credit Mr. Timothy Skinner with third authorship of the article.

Although Mr. Skinner was originally credited with conducting interviews on the authors’ behalf, his contributions to the article merit full authorial status. The reference to the article should thus read:

Rosbrook-Thompson, J., Armstrong, G. & Skinner, T. (2010). Fields and Visions: The “African Personality” and Ghanaian Soccer. Du Bois Review, 7(2): 293–314.

To view the original article, please visit: <http://journals.cambridge.org/DBR>, then select Vol. 7, No. 2:

Rosbrook-Thompson, J. & Armstrong, G. (2010). Fields and Visions: The “African Personality” and Ghanaian Soccer. Du Bois Review, 7(2): 293–314.

Du Bois Review, 9:1 (2012) 257.

© 2012 W. E. B. Du Bois Institute for African and African American Research 1742-058X/12 $15.00
doi:10.1017/S1742058X12000239