Editor

Jeffrey N. Wasserstrom, University of California, Irvine, USA

The Journal of Asian Studies (JAS) has played a defining role in the field of Asian studies for nearly 70 years. JAS publishes the very best empirical and multidisciplinary work on Asia, spanning the arts, history, literature, the social sciences, and cultural studies. Experts around the world turn to this quarterly journal for the latest in-depth scholarship on Asia's past and present, for its extensive book reviews, and for its state-of-the-field essays on established and emerging topics. With coverage reaching from South and Southeast Asia to China, Inner Asia, and Northeast Asia, JAS welcomes broad comparative and transnational studies as well as essays emanating from fine-grained historical, cultural, political, and literary research. The journal also publishes clusters of papers that present new and vibrant discussions on specific themes and issues.

NOTES FOR CONTRIBUTORS

AIMS AND SCOPE

TRaNS approaches the study of Southeast Asia by looking at the region as a place which is defined by its diverse and rapidly-changing social context, and as a place which resists conventional ideas of borders and boundedness. TRaNS invites submissions covering political science, anthropology, sociology, history, geography, as well as inter-disciplinary approaches. Studies of trans-national, trans-regional and comparative perspectives or case studies spanning more than two countries of Southeast Asia and its neighbouring countries and regions are particularly invited.
