

LANGUAGE & LITERATURE FROM CHICAGO

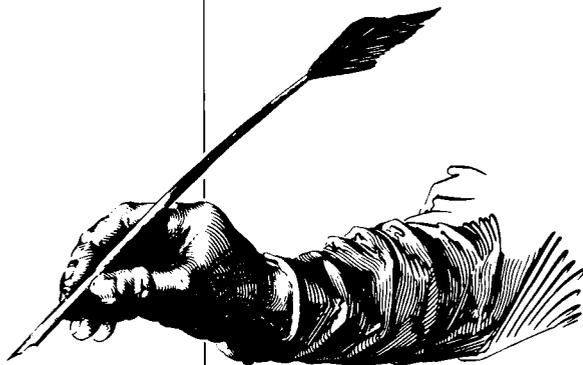

THE CULT OF PAN IN ANCIENT GREECE

PHILIPPE BORGEAUD

Translated by Kathleen Atlass and James Redfield

"Adds to our knowledge in many ways, but its particular value lies . . . in its presentation of a body of evidence indispensable for our reconstruction of the nature and history of Greek sexuality."—Froma Zeitlin, Annales (from a review of the French edition)

CULTURAL MIS- UNDERSTANDINGS

The French-American Experience

RAYMONDE CARROLL

Translated by Carol Volk

Raymonde Carroll presents an intriguing and penetrating analysis of the ways in which French and Americans—and indeed any participants in different cultures—can misinterpret each other even when ostensibly speaking the same language.

Cloth $19.95 200 pages

THE ART OF NAMING ANNE FERRY

Approaching sixteenth-century English almost as if it were a tongue different from our own, Ferry analyzes the poetic language of the period. The verse of Spenser, Sidney, and Shakespeare is discussed as Ferry identifies sixteenth-century assumptions about language and its place in the world.

Cloth $29.95 224 pages

THE HISTORICAL RENAISSANCE

New Essays on Tudor and Stuart Literature and Culture

Edited by HEATHER DUBROW and RICHARD STRIER

This volume exemplifies and examines the most influential current in contemporary studies of the English Renaissance—the effort to analyze the interplay between literature, culture, and politics.

THE IMPORTANCE OF NIETZSCHE

Ten Essays

ERICH HELLER

Considering Nietzsche in relation to Goethe, Rilke, Wittgenstein, Yeats, and others, Heller shows the philosopher's ambivalence toward the tradition he inherited and his profound effect on the thought and sensibility of those who followed him. Nietzsche emerges as a shaping influence on artists, intellectuals, and modern consciousness itself.

PAPERBACKS

Literature and Its Theorists

A Personal View of Twentieth-Century Criticism

By TZVETAN TODOROV. Translated from the French by CATHERINE PORTER. Part history, part confession, part manifesto, Literature and Its Theorists presents Todorov's bold vision of what literature is and what criticism should be. It is the final volume in Todorov's trilogy devoted to the theory and tradition of literary criticism. $24.95 cloth, $7.95 paper

Culture and Domination

By JOHN BRENKMAN. In this forceful critical reassessment of hermeneutics, Marxism, and psychoanalysis, Brenkman focuses on the link between cultural interpretation and social theory. He proposes an alternative hermeneutics that builds on Marxism and psychoanalysis but departs from some of their most basic premises. $26.50 cloth, $8.95 paper

The Political Responsibility of the Critic

By JIM MEROD. "[Merod] tackles each of the new, grand theorists of literature in turn, and seeks to bring each into active relation with his own strong, engaging sense that the critic of honour must be the critic engagé, [and] that such engagement is of necessity on the Left."—Times Higher Education Supplement. $24.95 cloth, $8.95 paper

The Critical Writings of James Joyce

Edited by ELLSWORTH MASON and RICHARD ELLMANN. With a new Foreword by GUY DAVENPORT. Available again in paper! In this definitive edition, Mason and Ellmann have collected essays, lectures, program notes, book reviews, newspaper articles, and poems. $9.95 paper. Ready in June

Starting Out in the Thirties

By ALFRED KAZIN. Available again in paper! "A stunning book. . . . Perhaps the most evocative reminiscence of a vital corner of the nineteen-thirties that we are likely to get."—New York Times. $6.95 paper

What Is to Be Done?

By NIKOLAI CHERNYSHEVSKY. Translated by MICHAEL R. KATZ; Annotated by WILLIAM G. WAGNER; With an Introduction by MICHAEL R. KATZ and WILLIAM G. WAGNER. "No work in modern literature, with the possible exception of Uncle Tom's Cabin, can compete with What Is to Be Done? in its effect on human lives and its power to make history. For Chernyshevsky's novel, far more than Marx's Capital, supplied the emotional dynamic that eventually went to make the Russian Revolution."—Joseph Frank in The Southern Review. $39.95 cloth, $12.95 paper

History, Politics, and the Novel

By DOMINICK LACAPRA. "LaCapra here writes cogently on the historicity of literature. His reading of texts are sensitive, controlled, and engagingly illuminating. In each and every instance, the specialized reader as well as the beginning student will find them rewarding."—Wlad Godzich, Université de Montréal. $22.50 cloth, $8.95 paper

Rousseau and the Republic of Virtue

The Language of Politics in the French Revolution

By CAROL BLUM. "Carol Blum's book is an extraordinarily important and beautifully written work for which I have the deepest admiration. No one seriously interested in the French Revolution or in eighteenth-century political language and theory can afford not to read it. Everyone who does emerges enriched from the experience."—Simon Schama, Harvard University. $24.95 cloth, $11.95 paper

Feminism and Psychoanalysis

Edited by RICHARD FELDSTEIN and JUDITH ROOF. This book is made up of sixteen essays—nearly all of them published here for the first time—that are representative of the scope and breadth of feminist psychoanalytic criticism today. Among the contributors are Jane Gallop, Barbara Johnson, Mary Poovey, and Jacqueline Rose. $42.50 cloth, $12.95 paper. Ready in July
