Journal of Policy History

The journal aims to encourage research into the formation and development of public policy while encouraging the application of diverse methods and theories to public policy and their politics within a historical perspective. In addition to social scientists and historians, the journal seeks to inform policy makers through a historical approach to public policy.

The journal publishes historical studies of specific policy areas and policy institutions, and explores continuities and shifts in policy over time. Comparative historical approaches to the development of public policies are also welcomed.
