The Traditional History of the Jie of Uganda

J. E. Lamphear

This book is the first attempt to reconstruct the pre-colonial history of the Jie of Uganda, and the first detailed study of any of the Central Paraniotic-speaking peoples of Karamoja District, Uganda, neighbouring areas of north-western Kenya, and the southern Sudan. £9.50 Oxford Studies in African Affairs

Kings and Kingsmen

Early Mbundu States in Angola

Joseph C. Miller

How small-scale and decentralized African political institutions developed into large kingdoms so prominent in early African history has puzzled anthropologists and historians alike. This book approaches the question from a historical perspective. The study shows that it was purely local conditions that moved kinsmen towards political centralization rather than external stimuli. £9.50 Oxford Studies in African Affairs

The Black Sash of South Africa

A Case Study in Liberalism

Cherry Michelman

Dr. Michelman gives the first detailed account of this South African middle-class, female, white organization from its limited opposition to the Nationalist Government on the issue of the Senate Bill in 1955-6 to its widening political consciousness and activity for the rights of non-whites. £6.50 Institute of Race Relations

Witchcraft, Oracles, and Magic among the Azande

E. E. Evans-Pritchard

This acknowledged masterpiece has been abridged to make it more accessible to students. In an extensive introduction Eva Gillies presents the case for the relevance of the book to modern anthropologists. She also describes the social and political organization of the Azande at the time the book was written. Paper covers £2

NEW FROM LONGMAN

DALHOUSIE AFRICAN STUDIES SERIES

Edited by J E Flint

Through this new series a balanced and scholarly collection of volumes, in related areas of African studies, will emerge. Published jointly by Longman (UK) and Dalhousie University Press, the series will provide a library of distinguished contributions in the field of Africanists, students, scholars or lay readers.

The first two volumes to be published:

THE BLACK LOYALISTS

The Search for a Promised Land in Nova Scotia and Sierra Leone 1783-1870

James Walker

EXILE AND TRADITION

Studies in African and Caribbean Literature

Edited by Rowland Smith

BRITAIN AND THE ENDING OF THE SLAVE TRADE

Suzanne Miers

The first comprehensive study, by an historian, of the political, economic and humanitarian pressures and conflicts among the colonial European powers leading up to the Brussels Act of 1890.

'Anyone who is seriously interested in modern international history should learn much from her book.'

Longman

The International Journal of African Historical Studies

Published by Africana Publishing Company for the African Studies Center of Boston University, this is a quarterly journal devoted to the study of man's past in Africa. The articles and reviews range from investigations of pre-historic archaeology to studies of the present problems of the continent, with attention also given to the interaction between Africa and the Afro-American peoples of the New World. The Notes and Documents section regularly publishes shorter studies of valuable original source materials drawn from both written and oral sources.

Recent articles include:

"The Cape Coast Asafo Company Riot of 1932" Stanley Shaloff

"Do Africans Have a Sense of Time?" Ivor Wilks

"Humanitarianism and Racial Subordination: John Mackenzie and the Transformation of Tswana Society" Kenneth O. Hall

"The Islamic Revolution of Futa Toro" David Robinson

"Paul B. Du Chaillu and the Exploration of Gabon, 1855-1865" K. David Patterson

"Precolonial African Diplomacy: The Example of Asante" Graham W. Irwin

Each issue also contains an extensive book review section in which an average of 35 or more titles are reviewed by leading authorities. Together these constitute the most thorough review available of the current literature in the field and are an invaluable forum for the examination of the latest trends in African historical writing.

CONTRIBUTIONS

Contributions to the Journal are welcomed. They may be submitted in either English or French. They should not exceed about 6000 words (excluding footnotes), except with the prior approval of the Editors. A summary of the contents of the article, not exceeding about 300 words in length, should be attached on a separate sheet. Contributors are asked to observe closely the conventions listed in the Notes for Contributors, Vol. XV, pp. 173-4. It is essential that contributors observe these conventions, as the Journal now goes straight into page proof. This severely limits the number of corrections which are possible.

Page proofs will be sent, if necessary by airmail, to each contributor (or his nominee) provided that the Editors have been given an address through which he can be reached without delay. Corrections should be kept to the minimum, and should be corrections, not new material. If they are to be incorporated in the master proof corrected by the Editors, it is important that the contributor should return the page proofs, by airmail if necessary, to the Editor named when they are sent out (and not to the Cambridge University Press), within ten days of his receipt of them.

Contributors of articles and review articles receive 25 free separates. Additional separates may be obtained at reasonable cost, provided that they are ordered before publication on the special form sent out with the galley proofs.

All contributions and books for review should be addressed to The Editors, The Journal of African History, School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London, London, W.C.1.
